President Pledges Review of Problem At an Early Date

Italian Partial Payment Offer Under Consideration; France and Belgium Will Ignore Obligations Due Today.

NO DEFAULT SEEN IN BRITISH STEP

Acceptance of Silver From London at 50c an Ounce Makes Actual Payment Only $7,375,000.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(AP)—A review of Great Britain's debt to the United States was promised today by President Roosevelt in announcing acceptance of a ten-million-dollar payment in silver tendered by that country in "acknowledgment" of tomorrow's due date.

In a formal note tendering the partial payment of the $75,550,000 due, the British government asserted the sum was to be considered "acknowledgment" of the debt pending final settlement.

At the price of bar silver in New York today—36 1/8 cents an ounce—Great Britain's $10,000,000 payment in silver on her war debt, at the agreed rate of 50 cents an ounce, means the United States, at least for the moment, is a loser on a market value of the metal of $2,625,000. Thus the payment is, in effect, one of $7,375,000 or slightly less than 10 percent of the sum due.

Bar silver last January dropped to around a record low of 24 1/2 cents an ounce. Since then the metal has been gaining steadily. It reached a price of 37 1/4 cents an ounce April 24 last, the highest since 1931.

Sets Forth Law. The American reply set forth Mr. Roosevelt's lack of authority to alter the existing agreement, and in a supplementary statement, Mr. Roosevelt said that he would not consider non-payment of the balance due as default.

In a spirit of co-operation I have as executive noted the representations of the British government with respect to the payment of the June 15 installment inasmuch as the payment made is accompanied by a clear acknowledgment of the debt itself," the president's statement said.

In view of these representations and of the payment I have no personal hesitation in saying that I do not characterize the resultant situation as a default.

"Beyond this, the law and the constitution are my guide."

RAIL EXECUTIVES SEEK WAGE SLASH OF 12-1-2 PERCENT

Brotherhoods Will Resist Management's Move, Which Would Make Total Cut 22 1-2 Per Cent.

NEW YORK, June 14.—(AP)—Railway executives decided today to make immediate application for a 12 1-2 per cent wage reduction.

This cut will be in addition to the present 10 per cent voluntary wage "deduction," and means that the carriers are seeking a 22 1-2 per cent reduction in the basic rates of pay.

Formal notices to this effect went out tonight, it was made known in transportation circles here. All classes of contract labor will be included.

The Association of Railway Executives—one of the key organizations of the industry, which includes the presidents of all the roads in the country—will meet tomorrow in Chicago to review the entire wage problem.

R. H. Aishton, veteran railroader and former president of the American Railway Association, is chairman of the executive committee on the executives' association, and is scheduled to preside.

That railway labor will put up a vigorous fight was indicated by the prompt announcement of plans of the labor leaders to meet in Chicago on Friday presumably to discuss measures to meet the carriers' action.

F. Whitney, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives' Association and head of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, has already issued a call for the meeting.

Additional evidence of labor's attitude was contained in a statement issued from Cleveland by David B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers.

Any further wage reductions "cannot be justified," said Robertson, who added that his men would "decline to ratify" further decreases.

"Just how the railroads can ask a further reduction at this time," Robertson stated, "especially when the whole country is suffering from inflation, when commodity prices are rising and business is gaining, is more than I can understand. It would be a deflationary move in the face of efforts to combat depression."

The present wage agreements, which permit managers to start negotiations for a new wage contract on June 15, 1933, but not to start until after the latter part of 1933. After involved negotiations, a voluntary agreement was signed, effective February 1, 1932, for a 10 per cent "deduction" from the basic contract rates to run for a period of one year.

Last fall plans were laid for a permanent cut to begin on February 1, 1933, but the suggestion of the administration and under the leadership of certain railway executives, a compromise was effected, extending the 10 per cent cut to November 1, 1933. At the same time the carriers agreed not to take action under the railway labor act, which provides the machinery for changes in basic wage rates before June 15.

It was explained here today that the present negotiations will be similar to the two prior conferences in which a committee of railway executives dealt with a committee of labor leaders. If no agreement is reached by the round-table method, mediation and arbitration may be resorted to under the terms of the labor act.

Machado Deports Ortiz To Avoid Death Trial

HAVANA, June 14.—(AP)—Major Arsenio Ortiz, who escaped two attempts on his life last year and has been accused in connection with a series of political assassinations during his activities in stamping out revolts, is sailing late today for Germany.

The government decided to send him there rather than try him on charges of killing three watchmen at a sugar mill last November when he was sent into the interior last month to campaign against rebels.

More than 40 political assassinations occurred in Oriente province in 1931 when Major Ortiz was military governor there. Civil courts implicated him in at least five, but he was never brought to trial.

The officer boarded the steamer Werra, on which he is sailing, this morning. A married daughter lives in Germany.

Atlanta Is Elected Treasurer of Civitans

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 14.—(AP)—Maurice L. Townsend, of Washington, D. C., today was elected president of Civitan International. The convention chose Toronto, Canada, over Miami, Fla., for the 1934 convention.

Townsend succeeds Frederick E. Lykes, Asheville, N. C. W. H. Buscombe, Toronto; J. P. Simmons, Miami; C. Francis Cowdry, Richmond, Va.; and Dr. J. D. Jordan, Little Rock, were elected vice presidents; Everett R. Brown, Atlanta, was elected treasurer.

Senate Votes Increase In Veterans' Benefits

Adoption of Substitute Plan Opposed by White House Will Bring Veto and Prolong Session.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(AP)—A senate openly defiant of a presidential veto tonight started a new veterans' payment proposal toward a round trip to the White House over a road that already had been paved for its two-way journey.

An already written veto was awaiting the provision. The veterans change, put into the independent offices supply bill despite warnings from senate leaders who said they bespoke the views of the president, tonight was the executive committee on the executives' association, and is scheduled to preside.

House leaders said that unless there was a sharp change of sentiment, the house would approve the Cutting-Stewers liberalization of veterans' economy by a 2-1 vote.

In view of the certain veto, and what he anticipated would be house approval of the provision tomorrow, Representative Byrne, of Tennessee, the democratic leader, already had prepared a resolution designed to meet the situation that would be opened by the veto.

Byrne's resolution of the attachment of the stipulation to an appropriations measure, the veto would leave several departments bereft of funds for the next fiscal year if sustained by congress.

Leaders of both house and senate were certain it would not be overridden. Byrnes already had prepared a resolution to continue the appropriations in the present bill for another year.

Several members of the house who had seen the veto message described it as a strongly worded document.

The amendment, proposed by Senators Cutting, Byrne, of Tennessee, and Steiwer, republican Oregon, as a substitute for an original compromise worked out by President Roosevelt and house leaders, was designed to lessen the effect of the re-

MELLON'S NEPHEW MISTRIAL ORDERED ACCUSED OF FRAUD IN A. W. LILLY CASE

Suit Charges Evasion of $2,000,000 in Federal Income Taxes.

PITTSBURGH, June 14.—(AP)—A suit charging William L. Mellon, president of the Gulf Oil Company and nephew of Andrew W. Mellon, with evasion of $2,000,000 in income taxes, was filed in federal court today.

The action was brought by David A. Olson, former senate banking committee investigator, through his counsel, Charles A. Russell, of Washington, D. C.

Olson alleges the nephew of the former secretary of the treasury omitted from income tax reports of the years 1926 to 1930, inclusive, 73,000 shares of Gulf stock, valued at $8,082,500, and a total of $10,000 in penalties.

Olson brought the suit as a taxpayer in behalf of the government. He and Russell obtained data on a recent visit to Pittsburgh.

Olson further asserts in the suit that William L. Mellon deducted $750,000 from income tax returns, alleging the deduction was for interest paid Gulf Oil on obligations of the president. Olson charges these obligations were false notes.

The suit, Andrew W. Mellon is mentioned as the owner, while he was secretary of the treasury, of 1,500,000 shares of Gulf stock.

PROCESSING TAXES TO REDUCE COTTON ACREAGE PLANNED

Administration Decides on High Processing Levy To Cut Acreages; Southerners Oppose Scheme.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(AP)—A decision to levy the maximum processing taxes of around four cents a pound for cotton and 28 to 30 cents a bushel for wheat in order to bring smaller acreages for those crops has been reached by the Roosevelt administration.

This was disclosed authoritatively today as Secretary Wallace completed his program for applying the farm adjustment act to the nation's two biggest crops. He was reported to have won the approval of President Roosevelt, and will announce his policy on Friday.

Wallace and his administrators of the farm act today made every effort to keep secret the details of their program. It was said that some features will be left undecided until the last minute.

However, as the program rested upon his desk today, it called for the highest possible processing taxes to reinforce retirement of acreage of both crops which long have suffered from surplus production.

South's Proposal. Even as the plans were drawn, agricultural commissioners of southern states forwarded to the president a proposal that at least 10,000,000 acres, or better still, 12,500,000 acres, be taken out of production in the cotton belt this year. They opposed, however, the levying of the processing tax. Wallace's announcement on Friday will specify the time the taxes are intended to go into effect. The act authorizes him to employ them at the start of a marketing year for a commodity.

August 1 by tradition considered the start of the cotton marketing year and July 1 for wheat. It was understood, however, that he will propose that the taxes on both commodities be levied at the same time, August 1 being contemplated.

If maximum taxes are levied, the act provides that no public hearing is necessary before ordering them into effect. If less than the maximum is levied, a hearing is necessary. Wallace, it was reported, is of the opinion that hearings before ordering them into effect and a period of time for the study of conclusions are unnecessary and would produce delays which he is anxious to avoid.

Earlier in the week it was decided to postpone announcement of the plans until congress adjourned. This resulted in objection from many members of congress, particularly from the south. The latter expressed opposition to a processing tax which they believed was made unnecessary by the Bankhead amendment to the industrial control works bill, for paying rentals to farmers, retiring lands from the production of basic crops.

Olson's determination to use a processing tax is based, it was reported, on the fact that the cotton crop is expected to be a record this year.

2 Officers Murdered By Fleeing Robbers

COLUMBIA, Mo., June 14.—(AP)—Roger Wilson, 40, sheriff of Boone county and Sergeant Ben Booth, 30, member of the state highway patrol, were killed today in a gunfight with three men, believed to have been those who robbed the Farmers and Merchants Bank of Mexico, Mo., about 2:15 p. m.

The encounter occurred at the outskirts of Columbia, where the officers had prepared to ambush the robbers. The automobile carrying the three men was halted. They dismounted from the car and engaged in a hand-to-hand fight with the officers.

Sheriff Wilson was on the ground fighting with one of the three men when another of the trio shot him through the head. Booth attempted to shoot the sheriff's assailant, but was shot down by the man who killed the sheriff.

The trio escaped from the other officers and fled east on United States Highway No. 40.

Record Crowd Packs Theater At Food Show, Cooking School

Probably the largest crowd which ever attended a summer cooking school filled every seat at the Georgia theater Wednesday to hear Mrs. Kate Stafford give her second lecture at The Constitution-Volunteer Food Stores food show and cooking school.

The balcony and mezzanine were both crowded and some 200 persons stood during the session. All were loud in their praise of Mrs. Stafford's interesting remarks, and she was applauded enthusiastically when she left the stage.

During the afternoon the lobby of the Georgia theater was filled with home-makers, visiting the many interesting booths and displays. At the Postel flour booth hundreds of biscuits were prepared under Mrs. Stafford's direction and given to the visitors.

Many other dainties were prepared and passed out and many of the exhibitors were giving away cookbooks and recipe folders. The food show has created an increasing amount of attention, and together with the cooking school has lived up to the promise made by the two organizations to present the biggest and best show of its kind.

Two more days remain, and today the doors will open at 8 a. m. in order that the crowds may occupy their seats in comfort without commotion. When the doors of the theater are open Ancil Sweet will begin his musical program. At 8:45 a fashion show of summer frocks will be presented by Rich's, Inc., and at 9 o'clock the cooking school will start.

An innovation for the Thursday program will be a 10-minute demonstration of cutting jinkys, and two of the jinky girls will be on hand to show those attending just how easy it is to win prizes in the Jinky contest.

Every home-maker in Atlanta is invited to attend this cooking school and take advantage of the new methods and ideas in the culinary art. Admission is free, both to the food show and the cooking school.

Highway Monies In State Capitol Reach $2,500,000

STATE ROAD BOARD TO SPEND 6 MILLION ON NEW HIGHWAYS

Fund To Be Made Available Through Industry Recovery Bill; Work Not Affected by Row.

The state highway department will expend approximately $6,000,000 in federal funds on new highways in Georgia during the next few months, Captain J. W. Barnett, chairman of the highway board, announced Wednesday. The board chairman revealed the program after he had been informed by federal officials that about $10,000,000 would be available for highway work in Georgia within a week as a result of the industry recovery bill just passed by congress.

Captain Barnett listed a number of major projects which he said would be submitted to federal officials immediately and that work on these projects would be launched as soon as they were approved.

The board chairman said he expected that the work would actually get under way within four weeks.

The work on these projects will in no way be affected by the present controversy between Governor Eugene Talmadge and the highway commission, Captain Barnett said.

The board chairman said that he had not been furnished with a copy of the bill as finally passed by congress, but that he "understood that some of the department's employees can be paid out of the federal funds."

Major Projects Listed. Captain Barnett listed the following major projects which will be the first started because of the government's desire to fill gaps in important and through routes.

The closing of two gaps on the Atlanta-Athens-Augusta highway. One of these gaps is between Lexington and Athens and the other between Washington and Thomson. They total 20 miles.

The closing of one gap on the Macon-Augusta highway, between Sparta and Warrenton. It totals 30 miles.

The paving of a stretch which is on both the Atlanta-Savannah and the Macon-Athens highway. This stretch is 14 miles long and lies between Gray and Eatonton. Paving of the route will complete the paving of the Uncle Remus Memorial highway between Atlanta and the native city of Joel Chandler Harris, famed southern writer.

The paving of a 13-mile stretch on Route No. 32, the Atlanta-American-Albany road. This stretch begins just south of Thomson and runs to the Flint river.

The paving of a short stretch in the Columbus-Albany road. The stretch lies in Stewart county, traversing the entire southwest section of the county.

"First in the Day—First to Pay"

Amateur Reporters Gather News For Constitution, Try for Prizes

Amateur reporters of Atlanta have found a long-awaited chance to test their "nose for news" and the last two days have found boys and girls, men and women keeping sharp lookout for unusual events in the city.

Tuesday morning The Constitution and Loew's Grand theater invited all would-be reporters in the city to participate in a contest of reporting in connection with the showing this week of "I Cover the Waterfront," a movie starring Ben Lyon, Claudette Colbert and the late Ernest Torrence. For the best story turned in this week by an amateur news-gatherer, a prize of $15 will be paid. For the second best, a cash award of $5 will be given.

Four honorable-mention prizes of two theater tickets each will be given in addition to the cash prizes.

Contestants should remember that news must be fresh and new to be of value. Events of today should be reported today for the issue of Friday.

Old stories are not satisfactory to a daily newspaper.

Contestants also must be governed by strict accuracy and an experienced reporter will check every detail.

It is not important that the story be written in the best of form—the value of the news is of paramount importance. Those who do not wish to write their stories may turn them in to the city editor of The Constitution in note form.

Every amateur reporter in the city is invited to participate. They will receive stimulating interest in events of the day and at the same time compete for cash prizes.

Cement Bids Opened.

JACKSON, Miss., June 14.—(AP)—Taking its first major step under the $10,000,000 highway-building program to be launched July 1, the Mississippi highway commission today opened bids on approximately 1,000,000 barrels of cement.

Here's one of the most persistent of the Jinky contestants. Since the first Jinky Day Mrs. L. Blackstone has entered Jinkys in the contest and says that every week, without fail, she will be on hand. Mrs. Blackstone thinks Jinkys the greatest pastime of all time and hopes that The Constitution will continue Jinkys as long as they have cross-word puzzles.

COMMISSION OUTLAW TWO CURB MARKETS

Curb markets at Washington street and Trinity avenue and at 741 Park street were outlawed Wednesday by action of the city planning commission and adverse reports on continued operation will go to council Monday.

Action of the commission followed protests of a number of citizens and ward delegations who objected to them "as public nuisances."

Only one curb market was approved for continued operation—that at Courtland and Oliver streets. Petitions for others were either held over or adverse.

Only one application for operation of a junk yard was approved—that of the Stein Auto Parts & Metals Corporation, at 252 Decatur street.

Adverse petitions were as follows: Fred G. Burge, 1061 Lee street; L. E. Austin, 713 Marietta street; L. E. Austin, 1036 Bankhead avenue, and M. Taffel, 949 Fair street.

Other petitions for junk yards were held over for further consideration.

Boyles Charges Case Is 'Frame' Against Him

Otell C. Boyles, parachute rigger, took the stand in his own defense in federal district court Wednesday and, repudiating his signed confession, declared that the evidence against him was a frame-up. He is on trial charged with attempting to extort $50,000 from Joseph Cannon, North Carolina millionaire, under threat to kidnap Cannon's son and granddaughter.

During the morning, the government introduced Boyles' signed confession in evidence and revealed a past court record of Boyles in North Carolina. The defense got under way during the afternoon with Boyles as the first witness. He will be cross-examined by the government this morning.

On the witness stand, Boyles declared that he signed the confession under an implied promise from department of justice agents that they would release his wife who was under arrest.

The case is expected to get to the jury by noon Friday.

BUS TERMINAL TAX LOSSES IN HIGH COURT

The state supreme court Wednesday knocked out the city of Atlanta's tax of $300 on motor bus terminals. Reversing a decision of Judge G. H. Howard, of Fulton superior court, the high court held that the city could not fix a tax in conflict with the motor carrier tax laws passed in 1931 by the legislature and the opinion of the court was that the Atlanta tax was in conflict.

The court Tuesday also decided that a city may teach shorthand, typewriting and other business subjects even though such schools were in competition with private business colleges. The decision was in the case of Worth against the Savannah board of education.

'KING' OF FOWL THIEVES SLAIN RESISTING ARREST

The king is dead—long live the king!

The king in this case was Jesse Bray, negro, and his title was an honorary one conferred upon him by police because of his outstanding ability in stealing chickens. He met his doom early Wednesday morning when he was shot to death by Patrolman P. V. Moss, according to police reports.

Bray was discovered with a large bag under his arm early Wednesday, walking through a clump of woods near West View drive and Chickamauga avenue. The bag contained eight purloined fowls, police said. Moss and his partner, Patrolman E. P. Roberts, ordered the king to surrender, but instead the negro drew a knife and advanced upon Moss, who stood with drawn pistol.

Negligence in Insurance Causes Loss to Victim's Dependents

"Four Georgians hurt as auto overturned," "Four accident victims treated at hospital," "Three badly hurt in grade crossing."

Behind these headlines, which appear almost daily in Atlanta daily newspapers, probably lies a story of negligence that will result in financial deprivation—a story that will illustrate in graphic style the blessing of foresight.

How many of those that were injured had the foresight to protect themselves with a travel and pedestrian accident insurance policy offered by The Atlanta Constitution?

Take this home to yourself: Are you protected? If not, why not? Is it not the wise thing to do? Then, if it is the wise thing to do, why not be wise and do it, and do it today? Tomorrow may be too late! If you have been remiss, and there are countless thousands who have been, avail yourself today of the opportunity offered you by The Atlanta Constitution.

This insurance is issued by the North American Accident Insurance Company, of Chicago. This company, during the last several years, has paid to Constitution subscribers and members of their families over $180,000.

The insurance is offered to subscribers and immediate dependent members of a subscriber's family between the ages of 15 and 68 on the one subscription going into the home at the small registration fee of 20 cents with application and 10 cents per month thereafter in addition to the subscription price, or $1 each per policy per year in advance, to subscribers who live in Atlanta; and to subscribers outside Atlanta and suburbs the rate is $1 per year per policy in addition to the subscription price.

The policy The Constitution offers you provides for payment of sums ranging downward from $10,000 for travel, $1,000 for auto and pedestrian deaths resulting from certain specific accidents, heavy sums for permanent injuries, and $10 weekly indemnity for total disability resulting from accidents set forth in the policy, which is at the rate of $43.33 per month. All this for the small fee, as stated above—just about 21-2 cents a week, and it is offered to old and new subscribers alike.

In sending application for insurance, the applicant must state name in full, give age and occupation, and if beneficiary is desired, the full Christian name of beneficiary must be given and relationship of same to the insured.

Four Companies Awarded E. H. Harriman Medals

NEW YORK, June 14.—(P)—The E. H. Harriman memorial medals for railroad safety for 1932 were formally awarded today to the four companies adjudged to have best lived up to the provisions established several years ago by the widow of a pioneer railroad man.

The awards were as follows: A gold medal to the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad.

A silver medal to the Atlantic City Railroad Company.

A bronze medal to the Texas-Mexican Railroad Company.

A special certificate to the Pullman Company.

of the Gulf Company's 4,500,000 shares of stock. Olson says the public owns only 300,000 of the shares.

After alleging that William L. Mellon failed to mention shares of stock voted him on successive years for services, the suit says:

"W. L. Mellon, on or about March 15, 1929, unlawfully conspired with G. R. Nutty, R. B. Mellon and others to cheat and defraud the United States out of large sums of money."

"W. L. Mellon and his confederates agreed that W. L. Mellon should execute to the Gulf Corporation a note or notes for $500,000 and have it appear on the books and records of the company that said notes would be given by Mellon in payment of a large number of shares of stock."

"Whereas, in truth, all notes given by him to the corporation were fictitious and were never intended to be paid, but were given up to the fact that said shares of stock had been given him in part compensation for services, so that the value of the stock would not be set forth in his income tax return."

"W. L. Mellon, although he has never held any public office, is a former chairman of the republican state committee of Pennsylvania and has been a leader during political campaigns."

"R. B. Mellon, a brother of Andrew W. Mellon, and G. R. Nutty, mentioned in the suit, are officials of the Gulf Corporation."

due about a million dollars, and in most of the counties of the state they are discounting pay warrants.

Governor Given Authority.

The order, if issued, will come as a result of a section of the civil code which gives the governor authority to impound funds of the state treasury to pay off obligations of the state, regardless of whether or not these funds are especially allocated.

The section is old and as far as could be learned Wednesday has never before been used. It is similar to the section under which the governor several months ago arbitrarily reduced the prices of automobile license tags from $11.25-$30 to a flat $3.

Although Governor Talmadge made no definite statement in New York as to what he intended to do with the money, it was learned that the state's cash is being concentrated in the treasury vault. The money has been in various state depositories and is reaching the capitol as quickly as those depositories can comply with orders from State Treasurer George B. Hamilton.

The total sum which had actually arrived Wednesday was said to be slightly more than $2,000,000, and the balance is expected today.

The reports about the capitol Wednesday, which came from apparently reliable sources, said that Governor Talmadge's decision to carry out the impounding of the accruing funds was reached after it had been established definitely that the state highway department would receive approximately $10,000,000 for road building purposes under the industry recovery bill and was making arrangements for the almost immediate expenditure of about $6,000,000 of this money on major road projects.

Talmadge Is Reluctant.

The governor was reluctant to discuss the entire matter as he was reached between visits to a number of points in New York city. He is accompanied in New York by four members of his military staff, Lieutenant Colonels John E. Whitley, of LaGrange; John Wilkinson, of Atlanta, and Lewis Mills and B. B. Heery, of Savannah. Judge John Bourke, of the Savannah municipal court, is also accompanying the governor. The chief executive issued a statement saying that the members of his staff were with him not because of any fear on his part but because it is customary.

Captain J. W. Barnett, chairman of the state highway commission, laughed Wednesday when he heard reports that the funds of his department were being concentrated in cash in the treasury because of reported fears that the department or its employees might attempt to seize it and obtain their salaries.

"If there is any precaution being taken because of anticipation of what the highway department might do through court action or otherwise, all I can say is that the precaution is entirely unnecessary," Captain Barnett said. "The highway department knows the only way it can get its money is for the governor to sign a warrant for it and we also know that the governor will not sign the warrant."

Denies Court Action Planned.

Captain Barnett read reports from New York which attributed the gov-error's action in concentrating the money to rumors of an impending plea by the highway department in the federal courts.

"Such a thing has never occurred to the board chairman said.

The commission head then laughed and said that the highway department had about $1.50 on hand in its treasury and contemplated no employment of guards to protect it.

Meanwhile, though neither Mr. Hamilton nor Adjutant General Lindley Camp would discuss the situation, the guard about the treasury vaults was increased. There were seven men on duty Tuesday. Just how many were added could not be learned but it was established that the men, who previously have carried pistols only, now are equipped with rifles, while the men operating immediately in front of the treasury vault are manning a machine gun.

There also are two other machine guns, well hidden, but at distinct points of vantage and trained on the western and northern approaches to the capitol.

The guards are all members of the Georgia National Guard, although in their present employment they are acting as private citizens and are being paid a salary out of the governor's contingent fund, Mr. Hamilton said Wednesday that the men have not been deputized but will be sworn in as sheriff's deputies or special city policemen if necessary.

The long-standing controversy between Governor Talmadge and the highway commission began early in April when the governor, after eliminating a number of expense items from the department budget, ordered five engineers, including Chief Engineer B. P. McWhorter, stricken from the pay roll.

The highway commission refused to concede the governor's authority and kept the engineers at work. Because the commission has refused to comply with his orders the governor has refused to sign a warrant releasing the funds of the highway department to the commission, though he took the position that he was ready to sign all other warrants, when the commission eliminated these five men.

In a friendly legal action filed last Saturday with Judge Blanton Fortson, of the Clarke superior court at Athens, Engineer McWhorter sought a mandamus against the department for his salary for April and May. Judge Fortson will hear arguments on the petition on June 20.

Captain Barnett said Wednesday that the commission's answer to the McWhorter mandamus petition would be filed with Judge Fortson in a day or so.

Seeks Court Sanction.

At the time of the filing of the suit, Reuben Arnold, of Atlanta, chief of counsel for McWhorter and with whom highway department officials have been conferring in the controversy, said that all that was hoped for was official court sanction of the department's course in refusing to carry out the governor's orders concerning the engineers. Mr. Arnold said that even though the contention of the commission was upheld by the court the commissioners did not expect that the governor would be guided by the decision.

As one of the results of the controversy the highway commission today is turning back to the prison commission 540 felony convicts who have been working on road projects. These convicts, according to Chairman E. L. Rainer, of the prison commission, are to be housed and guarded in a number of camps over the state pending final disposition of them. Like the guards in the capitol the upkeep of the convicts in these camps is to be cared for out of the governor's contingency fund.

Meanwhile highway department employees were prepared to pass their fifth payless pay day today. No employee save those who were dismissed last month has been paid since April 1.

Proceeding With Plans.

Captain Barnett said he had been informed by Charles Snead, of Montgomery, district federal engineer, to proceed with plans so that when regulations governing expenditure of the relief funds have been completed no time will be lost in the starting of the work.

The board chairman emphasized that the projects he listed were only the major tasks to be launched, adding that he and his fellow commissioners had scores of others under contemplation. He said that these smaller projects would be reached as speedily as possible.

"There will be a lot of people put to work in Georgia by this program," Captain Barnett said. "It will be noted that our program calls for a widespread outlay. We want the entire state to benefit as much as possible from the relief funds made available for Georgia."

ROOSEVELT URGES STATE AID GROUPS

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(P)—President Roosevelt today called for the creation of a relief organization in each state to administer aid to the needy "in a business-like way, but entirely apart from partisan politics."

In a talk to representatives of the 48 states gathered in session here, the president said it was essential that the states and local units of government do their fair share toward financing emergency relief work.

Only a little earlier, his emergency relief director, Harry L. Hopkins, had told the ten governors and other state representatives present of his own views and they were in close accord with those of the chief executive.

He emphasized that there was no intention of using the public works fund "simply to build a lot of useless projects disguised as relief."

"One function of public works in an emergency, is to provide a bridge by which people can pass from relief status to normal employment," Mr. Roosevelt said.

Hits Partisan Politics.

"Partisan politics must play no part in the carrying out of this work," Hopkins told representatives of the states that they must take a greater hand toward caring for their own needy than they have in the past.

Otherwise, unless some lessening of demands occurs, Hopkins said the federal fund for matching state expenditures will not last until January 1.

Ten governors and representatives of the other states and Puerto Rico heard his talk on the relief situation.

Private relief agencies are not to get any of the federal funds, Hopkins said.

"This policy," he added "obviously must be interpreted on a realistic basis in various parts of the United States. Hundreds of private agencies scattered throughout the land have freely and generously offered their services in the administration of public funds. It would be a serious handicap to relief work if the abilities and interests of these individuals were lost."

Seeks Co-operation.

"But I would ask for their co-operation to the extent that these responsible individuals be made public officials working under the control of public authority, serving in hundreds of cases without pay, but if paid, paid in the same manner as any public servant."

In answering a question by Governor T. W. Green, of Rhode Island, Hopkins said the $250,000,000 fund to be allocated on the basis of one dollar of federal funds for three of state would last only until January 1.

"It now looks," he said, "as though disbursements on the basis of the first quarter of the year will be $60,000,000. The same or a larger sum will be made available shortly after June 1 for the second quarter. If this keeps up, the fund will be gone January 1."

Leaders were hopeful tonight that the work might be finished tomorrow.

Senator McNary, of Oregon, the republican leader, said he saw nothing to stop an adjournment tomorrow night.

He predicted the house would sustain the presidential veto and then bring in a supply bill for the independent offices which would include the original veterans' compromise agreed upon by the president and the house.

McNary believed the republicans, who united tonight in opposing the president, would accept the compromise then rather than precipitate a prolonged wrangle.

DEGREES GIVEN TO 282 STUDENTS AT VANDERBILT

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 14.—(P)—Dr. Herman G. James, president of the University of South Dakota, told the graduating class of Vanderbilt University here today that the "jobless graduate" faces the "greatest job that ever confronted a college graduate in the history of this country."

Dr. James delivered the baccalaureate address at the fifty-eighth annual commencement of the university, when degrees were conferred on 282 students.

The commencement program began Sunday and included a celebration of the completion of Dr. James H. Kirkland's fortieth year as chancellor of Vanderbilt.

"Democracy in the world at large," Dr. James asserted, "is at a lower ebb than it has been since a century ago, when Great Britain broadened her national suffrage to a manhood basis."

Could you Lend me a Dime?

No ONE would think of running across to a neighbor several times a day to ask, "Could you lend me a dime, please?"

Of course, borrowing the use of a neighbor's telephone is not exactly like borrowing money, because it doesn't cost your neighbor anything extra for your call except the interruption or possible inconvenience.

It is also true that neighbors may borrow freely from each other and remain friendly, so long as each is careful to return the loan in full measure. When you borrow the use of a telephone you are getting something you can't return, . . . and in this way, too, borrowing telephone service is different from borrowing money.

The very fact that you have to borrow your neighbor's telephone shows you really ought to have one of your own.

When you stop to think of the convenience, comfort and satisfaction of mind that a telephone provides, you will probably agree that in trying to do without a telephone you are sacrificing too much for the few pennies saved. Why wait longer? Order your telephone today.

Commons tonight that Great Britain's $10,000,000 debt installment actually cost her around $7,000,000, inasmuch as it was tendered in silver at the rate of 50 cents an ounce, under the debt remittance were permitted under recent congressional authorization up to $200,000,000.

Mr. Chamberlain announced that the silver had been acquired from the government of India, but did not indicate the price paid. Recent prices of the metal, however, have been about two-thirds of that.

Sir Robert Horne, former chancellor of the exchequer, told the commons this arrangement permitted a real saving.

(At Washington today President Roosevelt, in confirming the Anglo-American debt adjustment made it clear that he "by no means conceded" some of the contentions which the British advanced as argument for debt relief.

Delay Denied.

Some time ago the British note asked for postponement of the June 15 payment, but this was not granted. It was disclosed.

Mr. Roosevelt informed Great Britain that he had no power to reduce the British debt and that he would submit the results of the negotiations to congress for its information and action.

The war debt question was completely ignored today by Cordell Hull, American secretary of state, in delivering his first address to the assembly of economic and monetary leaders.

Mr. Hull, launching the American program, denounced economic nationalism and urged that the nations begin their work at London by adhering to the renewed tariff truce, to which 19 states have already announced adherence.

"Has not the time come," Secretary Hull asked the conference, "for governments to cease erecting trade barriers with their excesses, rank discriminations and hate-breeding reprisals and retaliation?"

"Honest intelligence now compels the admission that nations are substantially inter-related and inter-dependent in an economic sense. This conference should proclaim that economic nationalism as imposed upon the various nations is a discarded policy."

Word of the British debt action came after American delegates had been depressed by Prime Minister MacDonald's injection of the topic for bidden in the agenda into the conference the first day and indications Monday night of strong sentiment in the British cabinet for a complete default.

Such a course, delegation quarters feared, might wreck the conference.

Large Measure of Agreement.

The statement by President Roosevelt in Washington that a partial payment obviated default and that the conference was "beginning under most favorable auspices" climaxed a day in which real progress in promoting monetary and tariff truces was accomplished, and in which Mr. Hull and Mr. Chamberlain set forth American and British views indicating a large measure of agreement regarding methods of meeting the depression.

This provided the Americans a refreshing contrast to the bitter opposition to the American debt and monetary stand indicated by speakers yesterday.

Mr. Hull refused in his delayed address to be drawn into the bitter squabbles which had developed over tariff and monetary policies, but served a warning "if, which God forbid, any nation should obstruct and wreck this great conference" through seeking temporary advantages, "that nation will incur the odium of mankind."

The American secretary continued the policy of playing his cards close to his vest, withholding details of the American program until the problems are taken up.

"Millions Starving."

He asserted, however, that as a result of extreme economic nationalism "uncounted millions of people are now starving in every part of the world while other parts are glutted with surpluses."

He urged acceptance of the tariff truce to increase wholesale prices as a preliminary return to the gold standard, smoothing out exchange fluctuations in the meantime, and curbing internal circulation and reducing the central bank gold cover for currency, and credit expansion through central bank open market operations.

Mr. Chamberlain described the British program in greater detail.

He disclosed virtual agreement with the American viewpoint in urging steps to increase wholesale prices as a preliminary return to the gold standard, smoothing out exchange fluctuations in the meantime, and curbing internal circulation and reducing the central bank gold cover for currency, and credit expansion through central bank open market operations.

American delegates were frankly pleased by the British monetary stand after the strong opposition to the American program indicated by speakers at yesterday's session, but a continental group led by France continued to block the selection of an American delegate to head the conference monetary committee.

Such intense controversy developed that Premier Ramsay MacDonald, of Great Britain, president of the conference, postponed until tomorrow a meeting of the conference bureau to choose the committee chief.

Cox Seen as Chairman.

Some American delegation quarters expressed confidence late in the day that James M. Cox, former governor of Ohio and democratic presidential candidate, would be chosen committee chairman, as originally planned.

Georges Bonnet, French finance minister, spent a part of the afternoon electioneering for himself in the convention lobby, but at his hotel this evening he announced his withdrawal.

French quarters, however, still were opposed to the American delegate and suggested a revival of yesterday's plan to select Hendrik Colijn, of the Netherlands, as a compromise.

Leading delegates were inclined to the belief late in the day that an effort to achieve a de facto stabilization of the American dollar, the British pound and the French franc for the period of the conference, amounting in effect to a currency truce, would be crowned with success in a few days.

Mr. Bonnet said that a common declaration of the truce was expected, and important American quarters confirmed.

Conferences toward stabilization have been in progress the last few days.

Visitors to World's Fair
To See Civil War Engine

CHICAGO, June 14.—(AP)—The "General" came tonight to the World's Fair.

Its burning fire-box empty, boilers dry, and funnel smokestack cold, this locomotive of the Civil War period, went on guard duty at the entrance to "Winning of a Century," panorama of transportation development at Century of Progress Exposition.

It made the trip from Chattanooga, Tenn., a passenger aboard a flatcar, for its days of labor are long past.

Days between central bank chiefs at the British treasury.

In French quarters, where depreciation of the dollar is most feared as likely to dislodge the franc from gold, it was said discussions indicated that the United States had no fixed policy for stabilization as yet, but that final decision would be made in the result of communications from Washington.

The chief problem is controlling the fluctuations of the dollar against the franc. Steps might be taken if the dollar kept well above $4 per pound.

Mr. Hull was enthusiastically applauded by the congress both at the beginning and at the conclusion of his address.

The American speaker with his accustomed deliberation emphasizing his points by gestures of the hand and intonations of his voice.

Twice Mr. Hull deviated from the prepared text of his speech, first in insisting that the conference develop a will for success, and again in urging permanent stabilization of currencies.

Secretary Hull spoke, Prime Minister MacDonald, sitting in the presidential chair near him, followed closely from the manuscript every word of the American exposition.

The admission of 10 countries to the armistice on new import duties, renewed with the beginning of the London parley, was announced by Chairman MacDonald.

All-round observance of the tariff truce, Mr. Hull declared would be a useful expedient as a preliminary step toward the reduction of excessive tariffs which he heartily invoked.

The removal of restrictions on foreign exchange in various countries was advocated by Secretary Hull.

Stabilization of currencies was also described by the American spokesman as one of the pressing problems before the conference.

While delegations to the conference eagerly awaited the official announcements as to the position of negotiations between Great Britain and the United States upon tomorrow's day payment, they were excited by a report, issued from French quarters, that President Roosevelt would soon summon a conference of the chief nations at Washington to discuss with each debtor in turn proposals for a new settlement of the war-time obligations.

Another interesting report which the statesmen at the conference heard was that Prime Minister MacDonald, Premier Daladier, of France, and Chancellor Hitler, of Germany, would soon go to Rome to meet with Premier Mussolini in an effort to complete and put into effect the four-power peace pact.

Chances for the early de facto stabilization of the dollar and the pound, insisted upon by the French delegation as the first essential for conference success, distinctly improved today as representatives of central banks and governments concerned continued their private talks on this subject.

The British program for the conference was presented at the morning session by Mr. Chamberlain, who, whose pronouncements for the most part found favor in American eyes.

Speed Urged.

The economic and monetary problems must be tackled together and immediately, the British chancellor asserted.

The policy of cheap and plentiful money, supported by the American government, was advocated by the British spokesman, who urged that central banks co-operate in expanding credit and that business leaders take steps to see that the available credit was used.

Withdrawal of gold from internal circulation was described by Mr. Chamberlain as one of the prerequisites for a return to the gold standard. Stabilization of currencies, he said, is necessary for economic recovery and should be sought once.

He agreed with the American thesis, later expounded by Mr. Hull, that it was highly desirable to reduce excessive tariff barriers. A mere stabilization of existing obstacles to international trade, he said, is not enough.

Non-Aggression.

Maxim Litvinoff, soviet foreign commissar, presented a plan for an economic non-aggression pact to the gathering, declaring that nations should recognize that the capitalist and the capitalist system might peacefully co-exist in the world.

Russia, her spokesman declared, is ready to go into the world markets and purchase large quantities of raw materials, railway equipments, metals, machines, textiles, and other commodities. His country needs goods valued approximately at $1,000,000,000, he said.

"The whole panic-ridden world is looking to this conference for leadership," Mr. Hull declared, in taking the rostrum to set forth the American policy.

"The success or failure of this conference will mean the success or failure of statesmanship everywhere, and a failure at this crucial time would long be conspicuous in history."

Hists Horrors.

The chief of the American delegation listed as some of the "awful" panic experiences of recent years, depleted treasuries, collapsed price levels, wrecked international finance and commerce, reduced domestic production and consumption, thirty million jobless persons, prostrate agriculture, world monetary and exchange unsettlement, and mountainous tax and debt burdens.

The necessity for new policies and new leadership is obvious and urgent, he said.

If we are to succeed, narrow and self-defeating selfishness must be banished from every human heart within this council chamber," Mr. Hull said.

If, which God forbid, any nation should obstruct and wreck this great conference with the short-sighted notion that some of its favored interests might temporarily profit while thus indefinitely delaying aid for the distressed in every country, that nation will merit the execration of mankind.

millions of people are starving in some parts of the world while the other parts are glutted with vast surpluses. Raw materials are felled off from factories, factories from consumers and consumers from foodstuffs."

Mr. Hull called the reduction of international trade from more than $50,000,000,000 annually to less than $15,000,000,000 "a most tragic phase of this shortsighted and ruthless policy."

No Substitution.

Trade between nations does not mean substitution of one country's home production and trade by that of another, the American secretary said.

"The gradual and careful readjustment of the excesses of tariffs and other trade barriers to a moderate level would not contemplate either unreasonable or excessive competitive imports against efficient domestic industry operated under normal conditions on the one hand nor monopolistic price advantages at home on the other," Mr. Hull explained.

This policy, if practiced generally among the nations, would insure healthier and more prosperous conditions in all industries at all efficient in every country.

"This broad program, while disclaiming extreme economic internationalism on the one hand, would challenge extreme economic nationalism on the other and launch every nation upon the same practical middle course."

It would reciprocally supplement efficient home markets with capacious foreign markets.

No Other Way.

"In no other way half so feasible can the present 30 millions of unemployed wage earners be returned to work, nor bankrupt agriculture be restored to solvency nor famished industry be brought back to normal."

"The world cannot longer go on as it is going at present. A successful meeting of this conference, in my judgment, is the key to widespread business recovery."

"While it is true that at the present time there does not exist a sufficiently informed public opinion in support of a necessary program of international economic co-operation, it is my firm conviction that the losses suffered by peoples in every country have been so great that they can soon be aroused into aggressive support of such a program."

The first and greatest task at the present juncture is the development here in this hall of a will and a determination on the part of nations vigorously to advocate this course. Therein lies the key to success and methods will readily take form.

"My firm prayer therefore is for a spirit of co-operation necessary to create a unified leadership and program in this conference that will carry hope to the unnumbered millions in distress throughout the world."

Debts Again Stressed.

Neville Chamberlain presenting a statement of British policy to the morning session declared that settlement of war debts and reparations problems was essential for world recovery.

The British chancellor of the exchequer called on central banks to initiate and vigorously pursue a policy of cheap and plentiful money. Credit must be actively employed, he said.

Great Britain desires the immediate stabilization of currencies, the chancellor said, asserting that the gold standard is the most practicable basis of exchange yet discovered.

Mr. Chamberlain advocated reduction of tariff schedules. He called state subsidies to shipping unfair and asked for their abolition by international agreement. State subsidies to export trade also were condemned.

Premier Daladier, of France, returned to Paris today, leaving before Secretary Hull's address. Before his departure, however, he held an earnest conversation with Mr. Hull.

Chancellor Dollfuss, of Austria, told the conference that "every country must put its own house in order."

The diminutive Austrian spokesman joined some previous speakers in urging early settlement of the war debt problem. This question cannot be solved by repeated devaluation and inflation, he said.

Quotes Proverb.

Herr Dollfuss, whose government is engaged in sharp conflict with nazi groups, both at home and in Germany, closed by quoting this German proverb:

"The bravest man cannot live in peace if a disagreeable neighbor will not permit him."

Foreign Minister Paul Hymans, of Belgium, who was elected vice president of the conference, asserted that his country was happy to see the United States take the lead in the move for reduction of tariffs.

Dr. Edouard Benes, Czech-Slovakian foreign minister, speaking on behalf of the little entente—Rumania, Jugoslavia and his own country—called for early settlement of the war debts.

The youthful Benes, who has held his post longer than any other European foreign minister, advocated stabilization of currencies and restoration of the gold standard, an increase in commodity prices, reduction of tariff duties, and a reduction of import restrictions, and tariff concession which would facilitate payment of debts by countries under heavy burdens of foreign obligations.

Settlement of the debt question and lowering of trade barriers were urged by the Hungarian spokesmen, Dr. Bela De Imredy, minister of finance.

Hendryk Colijn, premier of Holland, was applauded as he took the platform. He thought that stabilization of currencies was the immediate task which the conference should attack.

REPEAL COLUMN

Repealists Pile Up Margin of 4 to 1 Over State in Sweeping Victory.

BOSTON, June 14.—(AP)—Massachusetts stood in the repeal column today—the eleventh consecutive state to go on record in favor of repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

It was a sweeping victory with the repealists piling up a margin of 4 to 1 in the state at large and a ratio of 10 to 1 in Boston.

The 10 states already on record in favor of repeal were Wyoming, Illinois, Indiana, New York, New Jersey, Michigan, Rhode Island, Delaware, Wisconsin and Nevada.

Three pledged delegates were chosen from each of the 15 Massachusetts congressional districts at yesterday's election. The vote cast for the repeal-plighted delegates totaled 441,195. Those pledged to vote retention of the prohibition amendment polled 98,884 votes.

Not a single "dry" delegate was elected to the constitutional convention which will act on repeal of prohibition in the near future. Governor Joseph B. Ely expressed "pleasure" at the result of the referendum and said that he would call a convention "immediately."

Most Massachusetts communities also voted on the question of local license and the results showed an amazing overturn for the "wets." Only a few scattered towns stood firmly against license.

Before June ends, the following states will have voted on the question: New Hampshire, June 20. Iowa, June 20. Connecticut, June 20. California, June 27. West Virginia, June 27.

"Hey, Skinny! Look at This!" This is especially for the boys and girls of Atlanta, and any of you grownups that read it, have our assurance that nothing secret is being carried on. It just happens that I know a lot of boys and girls that are interested in things that they see outdoors. And I know from my own boyhood how hard it is to learn anything when you have to go at it alone. Maybe you have already started making collections of insects or plants or any number of other things. If you haven't but would like to, I want to help you.

If you have been looking forward to a summer camp or a trip, and it doesn't look as if you can make it this year, get your friends together and organize a club. Decide what you want to do, and let me know. I will come out and meet with you and tell you how to make your collections, and how to find out what you want to know about the things in our woods. For instance, you may have found out that tropical fish are pretty to look at, but that they don't tell you anything about those white-finned fish you saw in the branch the other day. And the parrot next door may be pretty, and maybe it can talk, but still you are having a hard time trying to find out about that tiny warbler you saw in the tree this morning.

Maybe some of you scouts are working for merit badges in nature study. This is a great time to get the work badges, and the flowers are changing from day to day in the woods. All that you have to do is to get together in small groups, and decide what you want to do. Or, if you like, I will meet with you some night after supper and we can decide then what is best.

Note: Another article by Mr. Carter will be printed in Friday's issue.

MILK AGREEMENT
PRAISED, ASSAILEDProducers Oppose Plan at Hearing Before U. S.
Agricultural Group.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(P)—

Two voices were raised in objection to the proposed Georgia milk marketing agreement today after a majority of organizations of producers and distributors told Thomas M. Woodward, representing Secretary Wallace, that they approved its provisions for setting the prices of fluid milk to producers, dealers and consumers.

It was near the end of the day's session when C. C. Henderson, of Hephzibah, Ga., president of the Georgia-Carolina Wholesale Milk Producers' Association, rose to explain about that they warbler you saw in the tree this morning.

He asserted that feed prices have recently increased and that the proposed price to producers of $2.05 for 100 pounds of Class 1 milk was less than the cost of producing it. He said that in the case of Class 1 milk the producer should receive at least half the sum charged the consumer, or at least 6 cents a quart. For Class 2 milk he said that $1.80 per 100 pounds would be satisfactory.

H. N. Verdery, Harlem, Ga., secretary of the association, supported Henderson. He said that producing costs were on the increase and that the department should not approve an agreement unless a return to the producer sufficient to meet production costs were assured.

J. A. McDermott, of Philadelphia, president of the United States Dairy Producers Corporation, which operates in Atlanta, praised the agreement, which would affect Macon, Columbus,

Rhododendron Festival
Opened in Asheville

ASHEVILLE, N. C., June 14.—(P)—This year's annual tribute to the mountains, the rhododendron festival, was opened today by a mile-long floral parade through the downtown section.

A beautiful spectacle of ten southern states played a prominent part in the parade, featuring floats, and were formally presented to the public.

The festival will continue through Friday. Its program includes greyhound races, the first ever held in this section of North Carolina.

Augusta and Savannah in addition to Atlanta.

He said he represented Atlanta dealers and that they were "100 per cent for the agreement." He said the agreement would reduce the spread to dealers but that the elimination of cutting and other trade practices which he said have a tendency to prevent stabilization of the milk market would improve the position of dealers. In its essence, he asserted, the agreement would increase the return to farmers without increasing the cost to consumers, largely through narrowing the margin of both wholesale and retail dealers.

B. B. Derrick, representing the farm adjustment administration, said that Secretary Wallace takes final action on the proposal, additional information would be required from both producers and distributors.

He said producers' organizations must provide copies of contracts, their by-laws, articles of incorporation and copies of buying plans if they are acting as bargaining agencies for members.

He said distributors would have to furnish similar material including copies of contracts with individual producers and co-operative organizations, and copies of milk ordinances in cities where they operate.

Complete amendments to the agreement will be submitted at the final session, including a request from several organizations operating at Aiken, S. C., who want to be excluded from the Georgia milk-shed and authorized to present a separate agreement from their own zone.

Representatives of Augusta organizations also intend to ask for an agreement and price schedule of their own, while representatives of the Georgia Milk Producers' Confederation will propose some changes in the territorial boundaries provided by the agreement.

Fred T. Bridges, assistant Georgia commissioner of agriculture, presented the agreement in favor of the proposal, asserted that for a long period the return to Georgia milk producers has been insufficient and that the main reason for this was that the department was to increase the return to farmers without overburdening consumers.

The agreement may be terminated or changed at the end of any month. On request of 75 per cent of the producers or an equal proportion of distributors, Wallace may end the agreement on 10 days' notice.

Morris Again on Trial
For Barfield Murder

W. T. Morris, ex-policeman charged with the murder of his superior, Lieutenant J. W. Barfield, went on trial for the second time Wednesday in Fulton superior court. Court recessed after the jury was selected.

He was charged with the first trial and given a life sentence but obtained a new trial.

In his former trial Morris claimed that the shooting was an accident when Barfield attempted to disarm him while en route from his beat at Tenth street to the station house in an automobile. Assistant Solicitors Walter Lee and Ed A. Stephens are prosecuting while the firm of Branch & Howard represents the defendant.

JURY RULING ASKED
ON BEER'S EFFECTBrief To Be Filed in Effort to Prove Brew Non-Intoxicating.

Impaneling of a special federal jury to determine whether or not 3.2 per cent beer is intoxicating was asked Wednesday after Judge Underwood for federal district court of north Georgia Wednesday after Judge Underwood for a second time had denied an injunction which would have restrained Cobb county officials from molesting interstate shipments of the beer.

Judge Underwood denied permission to file the application for the special jury, but instructed George Finch, attorney for the petitioner, to submit a brief to him covering the legal points involved.

In his second decision in as many days, Judge Underwood Wednesday denied the application for an injunction sought by Finch in behalf of H. M. Rollins, whose beer was seized by Sheriff E. M. Legg, of Cobb county, in what Rollins contends was an interstate shipment. The beer was in transit between Tennessee and Florida, both of which have legalized beer.

The judge cited the same authorities he cited Tuesday in denying the injunction application asked by R. R. Richman, of Jacksonville, again holding that because the beer was not proved non-intoxicating it is not legitimate interstate commerce and no evidence was submitted tending to show the beer was non-intoxicating. The Underwood decisions have held that the burden of proof that the beer is non-intoxicating rests upon the defendant in seizure cases.

Finch after hearing the decision asked for a rehearing and included his juror request in the rehearing application.

Contempt Charged
To County Auditor

James L. Respass, county auditor, was cited Wednesday to show cause before Judge Virlyn B. Moore, in superior court, Saturday, why he should not be held in contempt of court for failure to comply with the request of the citizens' committee, now probing county affairs, by producing certain records and documents asked for.

The citizens' committee, who, in their petition, alleged that they have served a subpoena upon Respass to produce certain records and documents, his possession, showing transactions between the county and the DeJarnette Supply Company and between county and the Hug Georgia Truck Company. The committee alleges that Respass appeared before it but refused to give the committee the records called for.

These records, the committee alleges, are necessary in order that the committee may "fully investigate the purchase of cement from the DeJarnette company and the purchase of trucks from the Hug Georgia Truck Company."

Affairs of the committee were otherwise in the hands of Judge Moore Wednesday when he approved, upon grand jury recommendation, that expenses of the committee, amounting to $1,320.54 to date, be paid. He was not, however, approve $1,500 of contemplated expenditures for the balance of the month. Meanwhile the county treasurer has announced that the bills of the committee will not be paid until an action seeking to halt the payment, pending in the state supreme court, has been adjudicated.

RULES OF THE CONTEST

- All Jinkys for these prizes must be entered Wednesday, June 21st, at 137 Peachtree Arcade.
- Any person (except employees of The Constitution and their families) regardless of age, is eligible to enter the Jinky contest.
- Any contestants may cut or make as many Jinkys as they wish, but Jinkys may be entered in the contest only with 10 Jinky receipts. (Example). If a person has 100 Jinky receipts, he or she may enter 10 Jinkys in the contest.

If a contestant buys $1 worth of merchandise at any of the co-operating stores he or she will receive 4 Jinky receipts. If a contestant pays $2 on account, he or she will receive 8 Jinky receipts.
- Each Wednesday there will appear a free Jinky receipt in The Constitution. Contestants may use this free Jinky receipt along with 9 paid receipts to enter a Jinky in the contest.
- A list of the official stores giving Jinkys and Jinky receipts will be published in The Constitution each Monday, Wednesday and Saturday. You may ask for and get Jinkys and Jinky receipts any day in the week, but JINKYS MAY BE ENTERED IN THE CONTEST ONLY ON WEDNESDAYS, AT 137 PEACHTREE ARCADE.

- All Jinkys will be judged according to:
 - Oddity.
 - Originality.
 - Artistic Merit.

SUGGESTIONS: For this contest, small, easy figures are not as desirable as bold, easily recognized designs. Make your Jinkys so the judges will be attracted at once. Don't compel them to study out the design—in other words, make it odd, make it original, and make it as artistic as you can—BUT ABOVE ALL, MAKE IT. You have just as good a chance as anyone.

SPECIAL ADDED PRIZES—Two Free Trips to World's Fair to the person entering the most Jinkys during the contest.

Another Tribute to ATLANTA

THIS institution—which has served Southern transportation and trade for 67 years—welcomes the Eastern Air personnel and wishes them happiness in their new home.

The transfer of the operating headquarters of Eastern Air Transport, Inc., to Atlanta is a fitting indication of Atlanta's importance as a transportation center . . . and a striking tribute to her present as well as her future position in air travel.

Atlanta's transportation facilities have contributed perhaps more than any other factor to her growth and development, and with this important office added to those of railroads, express companies, bus and truck companies and air lines already located here, Atlanta may well look forward to greater transportation progress in the years ahead—and to sustaining her reputation as the "Gate City of the South."

DAVIS CONFESSES AND DIES IN CHAIR

Negro Takes Guilt of Four Murders Before He Is Electrocuted.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., June 14.—Rader Davis, negro, who confessed to a life of crime, including four murders, went to his death in the electric chair here this morning for the murder of Mrs. Sam H. Henderson, of Atlanta. After the death cap was placed he asked for its removal, and for the first time confessed himself guilty of the crime for which he was convicted.

One of the other murders to which he confessed was that of Hamp McGee, Atlanta taxi driver, slain through a window as he was shaving. Emmett Gibson, another negro, has been convicted of this and is under the death penalty, but has appealed to the state supreme court for a new trial. Gibson's attorneys, Frank Bowers and James A. Venable, were in the death room and obtained a signed affidavit. Davis also said that he had killed a white man by the name of Stanley Byrd in Rockdale county. He had maintained that his uncle killed McGee, Henderson, until after the death cap was placed on him, but asking for its removal he confessed.

There were about 30 witnesses to the execution, including several Fulton county officers, Sam Henderson, husband of the slain woman, who was wounded at the time she was murdered, and four of her brothers. Davis went to his death at 10:50 a. m., eastern standard time.

MANY BOYS ENROLLED

FOR ATHENS 'Y' CAMP

ATHENS, Ga., June 14.—Enrollment for the Athens "Y" camp is progressing and the boys are on their toes, eager for the opening of camp on June 20. The enrollment is only six behind that of last year at this time. W. T. Forbes, general superintendent, announced.

Several Atlanta boys have already enrolled, as have others from different parts of the state. L. B. Owens, mayor of Columbia, S. C., also endorsed the project and likewise urged improvement of the Congaree river.

in. Herein is the first value of the honor-trick in no-trump play. Having this in mind, the Declarer first tries to prevent the opposing long suit from being established, but if it is, he tries to prevent it from being brought in—in other words, to prevent the Declarer from having to play low cards from obtaining the lead. At the same time, he endeavors to establish and bring in his own long suit or suits. Thus when a contract is played, a race to establish suits last between the Declarer on the one hand and his adversaries on the other.

(b) Strategy of trump play. At suit contracts, cards of a plain suit may be won by ruffs as well as by honors and by established low cards, as at no-trump. Due to this fact, there is an important difference between the tactics of play at a suit declaration and the tactics used at no-trump. Trumps in the Dummy hand may be used to ruff otherwise losing cards in the Declarer's hand, and trumps either in the Declarer's or Dummy's hand become effectual stoppers of the run of an adverse long suit. Thus when a contract is played at a suit declaration, the correct handling of trumps is vital to the play, the object of trump play being to use the trumps in the Declarer's and closed hands to the best advantage and generally to prevent the adversaries from making any use of theirs.

TOMORROW'S HAND. If South is playing a contract of five spades, can East make any play that will help in defeating the contract? With the Dealer. Neither side vulnerable.

The following is an outline of a safe method of planning the play of a hand:

1. Count tricks.
2. In order to determine the probable trick possibilities of the combined hands and thus discover whether or not any special effort is necessary to carry out the objective the Declarer must count the tricks, either established or obtainable, in the combined hands. The best way to do this at the beginning of the hand is to count the tricks in the Declarer's hand, at no-trump contracts, to count the winning cards. By following this method, the Declarer focuses his attention on the points most likely to be lost in playing the hand correctly.

When it develops—as it usually does—that the contract is not assured, the Declarer must think out, if possible, a plan of campaign that will develop the tricks necessary to fulfill his contract. Methods of play vary, of course, with the great variety of situations which occur at the Contract table, but in any given situation there is a method of play which, in that situation, probably will give the best result. To be a good Contract player, a person must be able to recognize the playing situation which exists, and then apply to each the tactics which in the situation actually confronting him will succeed. The player who quickly applies in each situation the correct method of play to cope with it has mastered the strategy of play.

Strategy in the play is the formulation of a plan. Tactics is the execution of the plan. With good players, after constant practice, it becomes almost a mechanical process.

(a) The strategy of no-trump play. In the absence of trumps and the consequent absence of complications caused by ruffing, play resolves itself broadly into the development of long suits. The honors play an important part, first, by stopping the run of an adverse suit, and second, by permitting entry to the hand in order that established long cards may become trick winners. An established long suit is harmless to the Declarer if he can shut out the opponent holding it and thus prevent it from being brought

When the first week in July makes its appearance and we also learn in The Constitution bridge tournament are going about this city trying to win some local tournament, I guess you will give many a passing thought to the Cavendish Club. The Cavendish team-of-four tournament with a lead of 13 points. With a pair playing a sound steady game, that was a most commanding lead. They continued to play this same type of game and were richly rewarded. It might be of interest to know that 57.3 per cent game won the tournament.

The best wishes of the bridge players of Atlanta ride with Wood and Marshall in their Chicago invasion. May the writer add his heartiest congratulations on their Atlanta victory and the fond hope that they do well in Chicago.

Sam Maddox Jr., one of the leading lights among the younger bridge players, found a most happy combination Monday evening at the popular Cavendish team-of-four tournament with the result that his quiet came galloping down in front three and one-half points in front of the field. Sam teamed with his favorite partner, the splendid teaching of Mrs. Carl Vreda and consistent R. L. Porter formed the other half of the outfit. It was a most impressive victory.

Speaking of highly improved contract players calls to mind Mrs. Phelps. Not content with winning the Cavendish team-of-four, she went out to the cool waters of Mrs. Ann Adair Foster's and won a 64 per cent game to win the weekly afternoon tournament given by the Cavendish Club. Mrs. Foster, then, just to try and win three tournaments in 24 hours, she made a gallant effort at the Henry Grady Bridge Club tournament that evening and came fourth with a creditable score. She only took up serious contract last fall, which speaks volumes for her natural card ability and the splendid teaching of Mrs. Carl Vreda and consistent R. L. Porter. Mrs. Phelps, who gave her a sound work in the game. Please make your best bow, Mrs. Carl Vreda, and point with pride to your most illustrious pupil.

Piano Recital.

The Atlanta Conservatory of Music will present pupils from the class of Elizabeth Hopson, in a piano recital, assisted by pupils from the classes of Eugene Dorian, Mrs. Albert Carroll, Summer, Charles Fry and George Fr. Lindner, tonight at 8:30 o'clock at Cable hall.

Those taking part are: Anita Mazur, Betty Cohen, Ruth Oxman, Bobby Flanagan, Blanche Loewinson, Lester Rainwater Jr., Stanley Silverman, Ann Morris Gellerstedt, Elinor Gershon, Evelyn Kappeler, Norma Pries, Jane Fant, Rose Thompson, Kathryn Herren, Gloria Dodd, Joy Lawless, Mary Amerine, Bertha Garrett, Barbara Watson, Evelyn Angel, Garnett Trotter and Florence Shearer.

in. Herein is the first value of the honor-trick in no-trump play. Having this in mind, the Declarer first tries to prevent the opposing long suit from being established, but if it is, he tries to prevent it from being brought in—in other words, to prevent the Declarer from having to play low cards from obtaining the lead. At the same time, he endeavors to establish and bring in his own long suit or suits. Thus when a contract is played, a race to establish suits last between the Declarer on the one hand and his adversaries on the other.

(b) Strategy of trump play. At suit contracts, cards of a plain suit may be won by ruffs as well as by honors and by established low cards, as at no-trump. Due to this fact, there is an important difference between the tactics of play at a suit declaration and the tactics used at no-trump. Trumps in the Dummy hand may be used to ruff otherwise losing cards in the Declarer's hand, and trumps either in the Declarer's or Dummy's hand become effectual stoppers of the run of an adverse long suit. Thus when a contract is played at a suit declaration, the correct handling of trumps is vital to the play, the object of trump play being to use the trumps in the Declarer's and closed hands to the best advantage and generally to prevent the adversaries from making any use of theirs.

TOMORROW'S HAND. If South is playing a contract of five spades, can East make any play that will help in defeating the contract? With the Dealer. Neither side vulnerable.

The following is an outline of a safe method of planning the play of a hand:

1. Count tricks.
2. In order to determine the probable trick possibilities of the combined hands and thus discover whether or not any special effort is necessary to carry out the objective the Declarer must count the tricks, either established or obtainable, in the combined hands. The best way to do this at the beginning of the hand is to count the tricks in the Declarer's hand, at no-trump contracts, to count the winning cards. By following this method, the Declarer focuses his attention on the points most likely to be lost in playing the hand correctly.

When it develops—as it usually does—that the contract is not assured, the Declarer must think out, if possible, a plan of campaign that will develop the tricks necessary to fulfill his contract. Methods of play vary, of course, with the great variety of situations which occur at the Contract table, but in any given situation there is a method of play which, in that situation, probably will give the best result. To be a good Contract player, a person must be able to recognize the playing situation which exists, and then apply to each the tactics which in the situation actually confronting him will succeed. The player who quickly applies in each situation the correct method of play to cope with it has mastered the strategy of play.

Strategy in the play is the formulation of a plan. Tactics is the execution of the plan. With good players, after constant practice, it becomes almost a mechanical process.

(a) The strategy of no-trump play. In the absence of trumps and the consequent absence of complications caused by ruffing, play resolves itself broadly into the development of long suits. The honors play an important part, first, by stopping the run of an adverse suit, and second, by permitting entry to the hand in order that established long cards may become trick winners. An established long suit is harmless to the Declarer if he can shut out the opponent holding it and thus prevent it from being brought

SPRECKLES CRITICIZES CORPORATE METHODS

United States Board of Trade Hears Plea for Federal Intervention.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(P)—The reorganized United States Board of Trade met today to hear Rudolph Spreckles, California capitalist, criticize present methods of corporate control and urge government intervention for reforms.

Spreckles, chairman of the Board of Trade's executive committee, advocated that government agencies be given the power to vote stock of absentees at stockholders' meetings unless the dominant group held 51 per cent of the stock.

"Through this organization," he said, "we hope to bring realization of present evils and their correction. I have been called a radical by the capitalists and a capitalist by the radicals. I favor the capitalist system but its preservation depends upon its decent conduct."

Charles W. Hunt, former chairman of the federal trade commission, presided.

Among the directors of the board are David H. Jackson, of Chicago; F. H. LaGuardia, former representative from New York; L. E. Elbridge, of Missouri; James L. Ewing, New Orleans publisher, and James H. Skewes, Meridian (Miss.) publisher.

MACHINE REVIVES MAN FROM DEATH BY ELECTRIC SHOCK

MILWAUKEE, June 14.—(P)—The strange story of a man literally "raised from the dead" and kept alive 48 hours after being electrocuted today was told by a man who had been working for the past several days drafting a program of recovery for the industry and that their plan will be presented to 600 manufacturers here tomorrow.

Townsend said the manufacturers of hardwood lumber from the southern and Appalachian producing regions will adopt a code and a plan of action tomorrow "that will insure fair competition for the hardwood industry."

Today we start celebrating the fourteenth anniversary of our business in Atlanta—and wish to thank our many friends and clients for the whole-hearted support they have given our efforts during this period.

Starting out in a meager manner fourteen years ago your support has made our business grow to the extent that we now maintain and operate three master stations for your convenience.

To celebrate this occasion we offer you the new Seiberling Duo Tread air-cooled tire at prices lower than you may ever see again.

Motorists here have been quick to recognize the quality Seiberling is building into his tires, that today more Seiberlings are sold in Atlanta than any other make of tire. Seiberling outsells them all.
